

Four Online Courses:

- Open Your Classroom to OER
- Open Science–Open Resources: Engage Adult Learners for 21st Century Skills
- Open Math–Open Resources: Engage Adult Learners for 21st Century Skills
- Build a Lesson with OER

Open Your Teaching

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITY TO
PILOT ONLINE TRAINING AND FACILITATION MATERIALS

The Open Educational Resources to Support STEM Teaching and Learning (OER STEM) Project is seeking teacher trainers and STEM instructors to field test online training and facilitation materials in January – April 2015.

Are you interested in:

- Innovating the Adult Education classroom?
- Preparing teachers to use OER in math and science?
- Enhancing student learning through the use of OER and open pedagogy?

Requirements for this professional development opportunity include:

- Master's degree in adult education, math, science or education technology preferred
- Minimum 5 years of experience teaching adult basic education
- Experience with online training and learning
- Content knowledge of math, science, and/or digital literacy
- Experience with professional development and classroom instruction

Participants will be expected to:

- Meet in Washington, DC for a 2-day in-person meeting in January 2015
- Commit to 3-5 hours per week of online training for 10 weeks, January – April 2015
- Obtain sponsorship from their organization to support time and travel

Apply at <http://bit.ly/OERSTEMTOT> by September 15, 2014. For questions contact OERSTEM@air.org

THE OFFICE OF CAREER, TECHNICAL, AND ADULT EDUCATION HAS CONTRACTED WITH THE AMERICAN INSTITUTES FOR RESEARCH AND THE SACRAMENTO COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION THROUGH THE OPEN EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES TO SUPPORT ADULT STEM TEACHING AND LEARNING PROJECT, CONTRACT NUMBER: ED-VAE-12-R-0044

