Project-Based Learning Guiding Questions

What is the real-life issue, need, or topic that makes this project relevant?

What is the line of inquiry underpinning this project?

What is the final product learners will produce? Who makes that decision?

How are learners' roles and responsibilities determined? What are those roles and responsibilities?

What resources will be needed?

What scaffolding, supports, and/or direct instruction will learners need?

How will learners get formative feedback as they work?

How will learners share the product?

How will the project be assessed?
