

Directions:

Cut these sentences into strips, or print them on separate index cards. Ask students to put the sentences in the correct order.

---

Deb's roommate drove her to the clinic.

---

Deb got a prescription for antibiotics.

---

The nurse practitioner asked questions about Deb's symptoms.

---

Deb woke up with a bad backache.

---

The dull ache got worse and kept Deb awake the whole next night.

---

Deb thought she had hurt her back doing yoga.

---

The nurse practitioner took Deb's temperature, examined her, and ordered a urine test.

The correct order is:

Deb woke up with a bad backache.

Deb thought she had hurt her back doing yoga.

The dull ache got worse and kept Deb awake the whole next night.

Deb's roommate drove her to the clinic.

The nurse practitioner asked questions about Deb's symptoms.

The nurse practitioner took Deb's temperature, examined her, and ordered a urine test.

Deb got a prescription for antibiotics.